Access data when you need it and incorporate directly into your workflow

Leverage fast, on-demand access to a wide range of differentiated datasets

Access a comprehensive set of global data — from standardized fundamental data covering 99% of the global market capitalization, to S&P Global Ratings on global issuers, sovereigns, and structured finance transactions.

- Take advantage of over 60 years of rigorously sourced fundamental and market data with Compustat®, S&P Capital IQ, and Private Company Fundamentals.
- Monitor credit health with timely pre-scored information to help you identify weakening credit and to fortify your surveillance process. With a wide range of credit indicators from market to fundamental based scores, you can get the full picture of your credit risk exposure.
- Power your analysis with complete access to consensus estimates, ownership, transactions, and key developments. In addition, track professionals and relationships for your coverage universe.

Seamlessly link your data with our robust data solutions

Tap into our extensive global data solution that seamlessly links reference data by company, sector, and instrument, so you can better manage data integration and minimize manual processes. Or leverage Kensho Link to connect your “messy” company data which might have spelling errors or partial addresses to S&P Global’s Capital IQ Company IDs.

- Help improve efficiency, mitigate risk, assist with client onboarding, and manage investment restriction guidelines with linking for over 28 million entities.
- Leverage extensive industry sector classification linking at the company level for GICS®, ICB sector code, ETF classification, S&P Global Ratings sector, and more.
- Streamline your operations with our extensive database of security identifiers cross-referencing 57 million instruments recognized globally.

Save time and power your workflow with flexible API delivery options

With S&P Global Market Intelligence API Solutions, you receive enterprise access to the data you need, more securely through RESTful APIs, and with fewer resources than traditional data.

- Implement and combine a comprehensive range of datasets into your business applications, models, or tools with on-demand delivery for instant analysis.
- Integrate new users and/or applications without having to add resources.
- With API Drive, our secure FTP-based delivery mechanism, you can take advantage of a shorter development cycle and customized files with your unique portfolio of identifiers and data metrics.
- Our modern API delivery solution, XpressAPI, delivers your data in a swagger interface built around the OpenAPI Specification that can help you consume RESTful APIs.
